Dear Miss Brooks:

Thank you for your note. I am delighted to learn that this too long neglected problem is being taken up intelligently, and I will be eager to learn the outcome of your experiments on "reinfection".

I am sorry that I do not have any reprints left at hand of the paper on "Cell Genetics and Hereditary Symbiosis", but I think the journal office may still have some. If I can succeed in wresting some from them, I will keep you in mind. Meanwhile, they may still have some for sale at, I believe, $.50 per copy.

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
Professor of Genetics
